Missile Situation 'Shock' to Prober

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said today three days of testimony on the status of the U. S. missiles program shows the situation "is worse than I thought it was."

Kefauver, a member of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee conducting the missile-satellite probe, said testimony by defense officials, intelligence specialists and scientists added up to "shocking evidence of how the country has gotten behind" Russia in certain scientific-military fields.

But the Tennesseean said "the picture is not helpless," adding: "We've got to give more money and attention to missiles, satellites and scientific development and education. We can catch up and get ahead if we only put our will to it."

In saying testimony showed the U. S. missile position in relation to Russia is worse than he thought it was, Kefauver refused to go into detail.

Other subcommittee members who sat in on a closed-door intelligence briefing Wednesday said afterward they heard a "sad and shocking" story on Russian military-scientific progress. The briefing was given by Allen Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency.

THESE SENATORS, too, declined to say just what they learned from the CIA chief. But it was reported the subcommittee was told Russia now has a few submarines, possibly four, capable of firing a missile with a nuclear warhead up to 700-900 miles. Other vessels in Russia's sub fleet, estimated at about 450 boats, are being readied for such missile equipment.

Denver Grid Coach Tossed in Jail

DENVER (AP)—Head Coach Bob Devaney, 42, an assistant coach and two players on the Wyoming football team were jailed by Denver police after a disturbance here early today.

Wyoming lost to Denver 14-13 in a game Thursday.

Devaney, quarterback Lawrence E. Zowada, 21, and guard Paul M. Muratore, 24, were charged with disturbance and interference with an officer.

Michael M. Corgan, 39, assistant coach, was charged with resistance, interference, disturbance, drunkenness and destruction of private property.

Spanish Kill 180 In Ifni, Paper Says

RABAT, Morocco (AP)—Spanish bombers have killed at least 180 persons in the rebellious colony of Ifni, the newspaper Al Alam said today. Spanish forces launched attacks by land and sea in their effort to crush the uprising it added.

The paper, organ of the Moroccan Istiqlal (independence) party, said 50 persons were killed by bombs in the village of Fouar and 130 in Sidi Hamed Larous.

Nixon's NATO Role Pondered

White House Decision On Assignment Awaited

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House may announce a decision soon as to whether Vice President Nixon will sit in for the convalescing President Eisenhower at the NATO summit conference in Paris next month.

Nixon has said he is ready to go, and apparently the NATO Council expects the vice president to attend the meeting which opens Dec. 16.

The council said Friday in a statement released in Paris that "it learned with satisfaction that Vice President Nixon would lead the American delegation."

However, the final decision apparently has not yet been made.

If Nixon gets the assignment, he would be catapulted into greater international prominence at a time when his role as vice president has taken on added significance at home.

Nixon stood in for Eisenhower Thursday in bidding farewell at the airport to King Mohammed V of Morocco, who was leaving after three days of talks with U. S. officials.

First U.S. Satellite Due To Be Fired Dec. 4

BALTIMORE (AP)—The tiny test satellite the United States hopes to launch Dec. 4 will not be visible to the naked eye, but its five-foot-long brightly painted third-stage rocket will be seen.

It should provide plenty of opportunities for visual tracking as it trails the little beeping satellite across the heavens.

The third-stage rocket has been the most classified of all components of the 72-foot-tall, 22,000-pound Vanguard launching vehicle. But the Martin Co., which built and will fire the rocket, gave a peek at it in pictures it released today showing the 6.4-inch, four-pound test sphere mounted on the rocket.

Only the nose of the rocket, which will be completely cloaked in an apron of the bigger second-stage rocket, is shown in the photograph. But it reveals a white spherical shape, about 12 to 15 inches across, on which the tiny satellite is mounted.

After about 40 miles of ascent, the seven-foot-long asbestos-plastic nose cone of the rocket will split in two and fall off, leaving the satellite exposed for the rest of its climb.

THE NOSE CONE will protect the satellite from aerodynamic heating expected to reach 1,500 degrees Fahrenheit through the earth's dense lower atmosphere.

The photograph also shows four rods which brace the satellite to the walls of the second-stage rocket apron.

At about 287 miles, just short of orbital altitude, a spin table, propelled by tiny jets, will start the entire third stage with its still attached satellite rotating. After the first complete spin, the supporting rods will snap out of the way and leave the shiny aluminum sphere ready for its spring into space.

Sputnik I's Rocket May Tumble Back To Earth Sunday

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—History's first rocket-satellite may tumble to its doom Sunday.

The final stage rocket that thrust Sputnik I into an orbit last Oct. 4 over Russia is in its last hours, the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory reports.

Dr. Fred L. Whipple, observatory director, emphasized that it is impossible to predict at this time where and when the rocket satellite might make its flaming plunge toward earth.

However, he said the rocket is traveling nearest its low point on its morning southwest-to-northeast passages. Today it was approximately 120 miles above the earth.

On Sunday morning, the rocket makes three sweeps across the United States, from southwest to northeast. One sweep starts in southwest Texas at about 8:13 EST crosses the Midwest going near Kansas City about 8:16 leaving the United States over northern Michigan three minutes later.

Ohio Methodists Reach Goal for New School

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's Methodists have reached their $4 million goal for a theological school after a 14-month fund-raising campaign. Bishop Hazen G. Werner said the goal was reached Thursday. Plans call for construction to begin next summer with completion set for 1960. The school will be built on a 53-acre site off U. S. 23 three miles south of Delaware.

Circleville Cagers Open 1957-58 Season Tonight

Circleville's cage Tigers get their first taste of action here tonight when the Bulldogs of Athens invade the E. Mill St. gym.

Coach Dick Boyd, initiating his first season as head cage mentor here, will display his forces at 8 p. m. Coach John Current's kittens are slated for battle with Athens reserves at 7 p. m.

Coach Boyd's hardcourt outfit will base its strength around the ability of returning lettermen Jon Parcher, Bill Johnson and Mike Hosler. All three were starters on last year's varsity.

To date Coach Boyd has been using senior John Wright and junior Walt Arledge to complete a probable starting five. Wright saw action last season as a varsityman and Arledge was a starter on the reserve squad.

NELSON Kelley, Don Rowland and Asa Elser will be available for quick replacement duty when needed.

Tonight's test will mark the second outing for Athens. The Bulldogs opened the season Tuesday night with a 57-34 victory over Belpre.

Arabs Asking U. N. To Call for Talks On Algerian War

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—Tunisia pressed an Arab country campaign today to urge the U. N. General Assembly to call for negotiations between the French and the Algerian nationalists to settle a three-year war.

An Arab diplomat also said an Asian-African resolution for such negotiations probably will be introduced Monday in the Assembly's Political Committee.

Mongi Slim, Tunisian ambassador to Washington and the U. N., was scheduled as the first pro-nationalist speaker in the committee's debate on Algeria.

French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau opened the debate Wednesday. He pleaded with delegates to steer clear of "internationalization of the Algerian conflict" and let France go on seeking a "peaceful, democratic and just solution" by crushing the rebellion and introducing electoral reforms to benefit Algerian Moslems.

IN A VAGUE resolution adopted last Feb. 15, the Assembly expressed hope that "a peaceful, democratic and just solution" would be found in conformity with U. N. Charter principles.

While the U. N. debate was going on here, France's parliament was preparing for a vote of confidence demanded by Premier Felix Gaillard on a partial home rule bill for Algeria.

King Mohammed V of Morocco and President Habib Bourguiba of Tunisia issued a communique last Friday offering their help to France and a nationalist organization, the Algerian Front of National Liberation, for negotiations.

Cuban Sugar Cane Fields Blazing High

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Fires were reported sweeping over a wide area of sugar cane fields Thursday night in southeast Cuba—set by rebels trying to bring down the Batista government by ruining the sugar crop and causing economic hardship.

The fires were reported in Oriente province, center of rebels led by Fidel Castro, who launched an offensive several weeks ago.

British Debate U.S. H-Bombs

Laborites Criticize Loaded Planes Overhead

LONDON (AP)—While Laborites continued to express misgivings about U. S. bombers making training flights from Britain with H-bombs aboard, the British press rallied to the Conservative government's stand today.

The most widely read paper in the country, the London Daily Mirror, said today East-West tensions fully justify arming the bombers with nuclear weapons. The independent newspaper usually supports the Labor party.

The Daily Mirror said in a front page editorial that "in the state of the world today this desperate precaution is—unhappily—justified. Until there are better relations between Russia and the West it would be wrong, perhaps fatal, to let sentiment and simple emotion weaken our defenses."

The carrying of bombs was revealed in the House of Commons Wednesday when Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said he "should think" they do. Prime Minister Macmillan stepped in to allay some of the apprehension raised.

MACMILLAN said U. S. authorities have taken elaborate precautions to prevent a nuclear blast should a bomb-carrying plane crash. He explained that the planes carry bombs in separate parts that have to be expertly assembled before a nuclear explosion is possible.

"Can you give an assurance," he was asked by Labor Leader Hugh Gaitskell, "that there is no danger, if one of these aircraft were to crash, of a nuclear explosion resulting?"

"Yes, sir," the prime minister replied. "I am told there is no danger of an explosion."

Texas Woman, 46, Continues Her 387-Mile Religious Hike

ALVIN, Tex. (AP)—Undaunted by showery weather, slight Mrs. Manuela R. Carreon hoped to walk another 21 miles today on a religious pilgrimage down more than two-thirds of the Texas coastline.

Her arrival here at dusk Thursday completed the second leg of a 387-mile hike started Wednesday at Galveston, 32 miles east and a little south of Alvin.

Mrs. Carreon, 46 and from Texas City, Tex., is bound for the Mission de San Juan deep in the Rio Grande Valley. She vowed to the Virgin of San Juan she would make the trip on foot, she has said, if her son was cleared of a murder charge.

Her goal for tonight was Angleton, Tex., but Mrs. Carreon has said she will rest wherever darkness finds her each night.

Chief Making Fast Recovery

Length of Gettysburg Stay Said Uncertain

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—President Eisenhower arrived today by auto for a weekend or more at his farm near here in a striking new demonstration of speedy recovery from his mild stroke.

The chief executive, piling the move on top of Thursday's burst of activity which included surprise attendance at a Thanksgiving church service, went with full approval from his doctors, the White House said.

The plan for the trip to Gettysburg, announced Thursday on a "hope" basis, was made firm earlier today on the basis of a new medical report of continued "excellent" recovery progress.

Some 150 to 200 persons waited near a White House gate to watch the Eisenhowers leave.

The President smiled and nodded to the onlookers.

Mrs. Eisenhower, sitting with her husband in the big White House car, also smiled at those who waved.

THE PRESIDENTIAL auto was followed by a Secret Service car and another White House limousine carrying Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, White House physician, and some staff members.

Eight or nine other cars swung in behind the three as the cavalcade left the White House gate.

Eisenhower, who suffered a mild stroke the first of the week, had an exceptionally long sleep Thursday night—from 8 p. m. until 6 a. m., the White House said.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters that no, it wasn't because he was overtired.

Eisenhower had had an unexpected busy Thanksgiving, going to church and presiding over a family dinner. Hagerty said Eisenhower went to bed shortly after dinner and was asleep by 8.

He said there was no particular reason why the chief executive retired so early.

How long the Eisenhowers will remain at the farm is questionable but Hagerty said:

"I would think it would extend into next week."

A cabinet meeting is scheduled Monday. And on Tuesday, congressional leaders of both parties

Minimum Pay Law for Ohio Being Studied

COLUMBUS (AP)—Ohio's labor leaders say they may seek a constitutional amendment authorizing a state minimum wage law and a state labor relations act.

The announcement was made by the steering committee of United Organized Labor of Ohio. The committee is made up of representatives of the Ohio CIO Council, Ohio State Federation of Labor, United Mine Workers and Railroad Brotherhoods.

At the same time, the committee said Ohio's unions are solidly united against a proposed constitutional amendment to permit a so-called "right-to-work" law in Ohio. The law would prohibit union shops in the state.

The committee said union shop agreements are based on the principle that workers who benefit from a union have an obligation to support that union by joining it and paying dues.

A non-paying corporation charter has been issued to Ohioans for Right to Work, an organization formed to support the "right-to-work" movement.

The committee said that "in view of the contemplated action by such business interests, the steering committee is giving consideration to other issues which might properly also be put on the ballot, including such items as a state minimum wage law and a state labor relations act."

It was at the airport that Nixon, in response to queries from newsmen, indicated his willingness to go to the Paris NATO conference. "I am always ready to do whatever President Eisenhower wants me to," he said.

Nixon added that the question as to "who would make up the United States delegation" will be submitted to Eisenhower.

Cop-Attacker Is Killed by Officer's Shot

AKRON (AP) — An Akron patrolman shot a young man to death early today. He said the victim, angered over an arrest 24 hours before, attacked him on the street.

Alvin V. Shaffer, 25, unemployed, was shot in the chest and was pronounced dead at Akron General Hospital.

The patrolman, Ralph Eulitt, 46, was in City Hospital with a groin injury and a possible brain concussion.

Eulitt had arrested Shaffer early Thursday. He said he found the man beside his stalled car on South Main Street and remonstrated with him for reckless driving a few minutes earlier.

He said Shaffer became abusive when he arrested him for speeding, crashing a red light and having a loud muffler. By the time a patrol wagon got Shaffer to city jail there also was a charge of resisting arrest. And when Shaffer broke a water fountain at the jail there was a charge of malicious destruction of property. But Thursday morning Shaffer was released on bond.

Maj. Boyd Burke of the Akron Police Department said it was learned that Shaffer, accompanied by a brother and his grandfather, Roy Vaughan, 64, began hunting the patrolman Thursday night. Early today he found Eulitt and attacked him.

Eulitt was kicked, hit over the head with his own club, and then warned Shaffer and his companions he would shoot, said Maj. Burke. He fired one shot into Shaffer's chest, near the heart.

ALVIN, Tex. (AP) — Undaunted by showery weather, slight Mrs. Manuela R. Carreon hoped to walk another 21 miles today on a religious pilgrimage down more than two-thirds of the Texas coastline.

Her goal for tonight was Angleton, Tex., but Mrs. Carreon has said she will rest wherever darkness finds her each night.

She trudged through chilly weather, clutching an imitation

She appeared unperturbed at foregoing a Thanksgiving Day dinner with her family.

"My boy is free—that is enough turkey for me," she told a reporter. Besides, she explained, the Carreons had their holiday feast last week in the expectation she would be trudging down the highway later.

The pilgrimage was started after her eldest son Alfonso Carreon Jr., 27, was adjudged innocent of murder in a tavern slaying last Dec. 1. He had pleaded self-defense in a knife affray.

"Every mother must make sacrifices for her children," the little mother said. "My boy is a good boy."

Mrs. Carreon said Alfonso, traveling in a car, also was en route to the Mission de San Juan to give thanks and she hoped to see him along the way.

Chief Making Fast Recovery

Length of Gettysburg Stay Said Uncertain

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — President Eisenhower arrived today by auto for a weekend or more at his farm near here in a striking new demonstration of speedy recovery from his mild stroke.

The chief executive, piling the move on top of Thursday's burst of activity which included surprise attendance at a Thanksgiving church service, went with full approval from his doctors, the White House said.

The plan for the trip to Gettysburg, announced Thursday on a "hope" basis, was made firm earlier today on the basis of a new medical report of continued "excellent" recovery progress.

Some 150 to 200 persons waited near a White House gate to watch the Eisenhowers leave.

The President smiled and nodded to the onlookers.

Mrs. Eisenhower, sitting with her husband in the big White House car, also smiled at those who waved.

THE PRESIDENTIAL auto was followed by a Secret Service car and another White House limousine carrying Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, White House physician, and some staff members.

Eight or nine other cars swung in behind the three as the cavalcade left the White House gate.

Eisenhower, who suffered a mild stroke the first of the week, had an exceptionally long sleep Thursday night—from 8 p. m. until 6 a. m., the White House said.

Press Secretary James C. Hagerty told reporters that no, it wasn't because he was overtired.

Eisenhower had had an unexpected busy Thanksgiving, going to church and presiding over a family dinner. Hagerty said Eisenhower went to bed shortly after dinner and was asleep by 8.

He said there was no particular reason why the chief executive retired so early.

How long the Eisenhowers will remain at the farm is questionable but Hagerty said:

"I would think it would extend into next week."

A cabinet meeting is scheduled Monday. And on Tuesday, congressional leaders of both parties

Minimum Pay Law for Ohio Being Studied

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio's labor leaders say they may seek a constitutional amendment authorizing a state minimum wage law and a state labor relations act.

The announcement was made by the steering committee of United Organized Labor of Ohio. The committee is made up of representatives of the Ohio CIO Council, Ohio State Federation of Labor, United Mine Workers and Railroad Brotherhoods.

At the same time, the committee said Ohio's unions are solidly united against a proposed constitutional amendment to permit a so-called "right-to-work" law in Ohio. The law would prohibit union shops in the state.

The committee said union shop agreements are based on the principle that workers who benefit from a union have an obligation to support that union by joining it and paying dues.

A non-profit corporation charter has been issued to Ohioans for Right to Work, an organization formed to support the "right-to-work" movement.

The committee said that "in view of the contemplated action by such business interests, the steering committee is giving consideration to other issues which might properly also be put on the ballot, including such items as a state minimum wage law and a state labor relations act."

U.S. Economy Seen Headed For Recession

President's Current Illness Studied as to Its Effect on Public

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—President Eisenhower's latest illness comes as the nation's economy admittedly is sliding into a recession. There is considerable uncertainty as to how deep and how long the downturn may be.

And some new uncertainties have now been added.

The stock market reacted at once and violently. But most of the first reaction was from professional traders—those who try to make part or all of their living from day-by-day stock trading.

The early reaction apparently didn't involve the real investors.

Business leaders usually take calmer views than do the stock market pros.

Businessmen's first concern now is how much effect, if any, the illness may have on public confidence, since it is generally agreed that the great mainstay of the economy in the months of rolling industrial adjustment just ahead will be continued heavy consumer buying.

Economists specializing in retail trade doubt that there will be any effect on the Christmas trade much to stores whose year's profit record can be made or broken by it. They also see little reason for the economy in general to be affected — if the public's confidence in the economy isn't shaken.

But business is concerned over the new uncertainties in Washington. They note that the illness comes in the midst of another of the ever recurring international crises, which it had been hoped the President's scheduled visit to Paris would alleviate.

Business too has a stake in the budget and taxation discussions which reach a peak in December and in the legislative proposals that are drafted then. Industry wonders now what effect the illness may have on these.

In general hope is expressed that the President will recover quickly, and his assistants will carry out the international, budgetary and legislative programs without a bobble.

It is widely expected that defense spending will rise, aiding a number of industries by the middle of the year and helping to keep the adjustment rolling without too much economic pain.

Washington has predicted that unemployment this winter may rise above the four million mark. Employment now is around 66 million.

As a percentage of the total labor force four million unemployed wouldn't be considered alarming.

The funeral services will be held at 1:30 p. m. Saturday at the funeral home with the Rev. William McOmmer officiating. Burial will be in Springlawn Cemetery.

are coming to the White House for a briefing on military and defense matters and the legislative program for the new congressional session.

THERE HAS been no change, Hagerty said, in plans for the session with congressional chiefs.

But whether Eisenhower will sit in still is up in the air.

The new medical progress report and the firming up of plans for the Gettysburg run, together with Thursday's surprise burst of activity, added up to a signal of a faster recovery pace than had been indicated by Eisenhower's doctors.

But the White House is continuing to emphasize that the road to complete recovery still stretches a good distance into the future.

The presidential physicians are pictured as still believing Eisenhower must have several weeks of rest before he can return to his job full time.

If he decides to stay on his farm for awhile, he will conduct a limited amount of government business from headquarters there. He convalesced there from his 1955 heart attack and his 1956 intestinal illness.

The President may go to the Dec. 16-18 Paris NATO Council meeting after all. The White House said Eisenhower's doctors will decide later. Vice President Nixon will head the U. S. Delegation if Eisenhower can't go.

Ohio Highway Boss Denies He Is Extravagant

Noble Tells Engineers He Has Best Interest Of State at Heart

COLUMBUS (AP) — Ohio's highway boss, Charles M. Noble, has told a committee of engineers that has criticized his freeway construction standards as being too extravagant that he has the best interests of Ohio at heart.

"I am certainly not designing wastefully or extravagantly," he told the committee headed by Robert Eastman, Clark County engineer.

The committee is from the Ohio County Engineers' Assn. which recently accepted a report urging the Ohio Department of Highways to follow national standards in building interstate freeways.

Referring to those standards, Noble said:

"We must do better than the minimums. The minimums are something you don't want to go below. Ohio is not the type of state you want to use minimums on."

Albert S. Porter, Cuyahoga County engineer who has been mentioned as a possible candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, is on the committee. He said Noble's standards mean it will cost $175,000 more per mile to build interstate highways than if the national minimums were followed.

"That certainly is not peanuts," Porter commented.

Porter also said that in many cases consulting engineers who drew plans for the highway department become "robot construction men" because they are told by the department what to do. Noble responded:

"We are telling these engineers we want them to do the best job possible. That is exactly my policy, to go above the standards when we reasonably can."

Noble said the department has reviewed its construction principles "very carefully." Porter commented: "If you think everything being done now is right, then we have no further questions."

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My husband is a genuinely good person—one of the nicest I have known in over 50 years of living. He is kind, considerate, successful in his profession and exceptionally well liked by all who know him. He is devoted to his family; and our welfare and comfort have been his chief concern ever since our marriage.

He frequently has to take overnight trips in connection with his business; and recently, he proposed taking a cousin of our daughter-in-law on one of these. She is a visitor here, from another land; and naturally desirous of seeing as much of this country as possible in the brief time at her disposal. It was with this in mind, I know, that Harold suggested taking her along.

It was a case of "all things being pure to the pure in heart"—but unfortunately the whole world isn't as pure in heart as Harold. The fact that the girl is young enough to be his daughter doesn't change the unconventional nature of the idea (in my opinion); and it's being a business trip made it particularly inadvisable.

He finally acceded to my reasoning and went alone. But the very fact that he was so nice about it made me wonder if my attitude was unduly prudish and mid-Victorian. I know my rearing was quite strict and times have changed. What is your opinion?

No planes or trains were involved; the trip was being made in our family car.

C. F.

DEAR C. F.: It is my guess that you owe Harold no apology for blocking the trip. He probably has mixed feelings, even now, about the project he renounced at your insistence.

He may be altogether pure of heart; but he can't be such an innocent as not to know that his proposition was improper. And had you let him go, concealing your misgivings, it might well have been a disastrous mistake on your part and his.

From such small beginnings, marriages have been wrecked, especially when the man and the marriage are middle-aged; and the wisp of smoke is a much younger woman. The best fire insurance in cases of the kind, is to make sure that the first spark doesn't ignite. And I surmise that you were moved to this precaution by intuitive wisdom, in the present instance.

When Harold finally acceded to your reasoning, in the nicest spirit, it probably was because he knew, in his soul, that you were right. And that his advocacy of the trip was at least as selfish—in anticipated enjoyment of an unconventional jaunt with a young traveler from another land—as it was magnanimous, in thinking to show her more of our country.

It is possible, indeed, that he wistfully knows he needed your help, to relieve him forcibly of the decision, as to whether to take the girl, or not. On the conscious level, maybe he saw no risk, no temptation involved. But unconsciously, in the lower nature, on the instinctual level, he must have sensed the (shall we say?) lawless implications of such a venture. Thus perhaps in the final reckoning he is relieved to have been kept on course, in the beaten path of respectability.

As for your stand being prudish or mid-Victorian, that's nonsense. Good common sense and a decent respect for the opinions of mankind are a hallmark of sound moral health—and if society is in short supply on that score nowadays, well, that is society's loss. I think you were a real helpmate to your husband here.

Steel Mills Face Slow Demand Era

NEW YORK (AP)—The steel industry is heading into its slowest demand period since 1934, Iron Age, metalworking weekly, says.

"Steel users," the magazine said, "have set a course of inventory cutting and are sticking to it. They know they are in the driver's seat and are cutting their own costs at the expense of the mills. These are hard times for the mills. They are set up to operate on a mass-production basis. It's a strain on their distribution systems when they are forced to handle small orders."

Troy Man, 22 Killed During Family Fuss

TROY, Ohio (AP)—A 22-year-old man, who fired six times at his wife because she wouldn't fix him something to eat, was shot to death Thursday night by another man who lives at the couple's home, sheriff's deputies reported.

Killed was Megg Jackson of nearby Rt. 2, Piqua. Deputies said Homer E. Rail, 46, admitted the shooting. They said Rail gave this account:

Jackson demanded that his wife (name, age unavailable) fix him something to eat about 9:30 p.m. When she refused to leave her bed for him, Jackson grabbed a shotgun and fired at her six times. She ran screaming into the bedroom in another part of the house where Rail and his wife were sleeping.

Rail jumped from bed, reached for a gun, and shot Jackson.

Deputies said Rail told them he was afraid Jackson would shoot at Rail's children, asleep in another room.

Rail was held for investigation.

Tunis Arms Tough on U.S.

The State Department, over the protests of France, decided to join Britain in sending 500 M-1 rifles and 50,000 rounds of small-arms ammunition to little Tunisia, the former French colony located on the North African coast. It faced this situation:

If the U. S. failed to ship arms to the Tunisians, then the government of that infant nation would accept arms offers from the communist bloc. This would be especially tragic because the Tunisian president, Habib Bourguiba, is not only one of the smartest men in the Arab world but in the past has been one of the friendliest to the West.

But if the U. S. did give arms to Tunisia, then the French would be bitterly unhappy. They fear the arms will go across the border to help the Algerian rebels fight the French. Washington's action therefore will probably torpedo chances that President Eisenhower may unify NATO nations by a trip to Paris next month.

The French, by the way, reneged last May on a promise of $35 million in arms to Tunisia. The Tunisians retaliated by canceling a customs agreement.

The French charged rebels were making hit-and-run raids from Tunisia into Algeria. The Tunisians replied that French troops still stationed in Tunisia under the independence agreement were being used illegally against the Algerians.

These are some of the problems facing America as it engages in the "gun-running business"—as arms sent to hold off communism often are used to back up threats in disputes between the various allies.

Year 2057--Count Me Absent

By Hal Boyle

By SAUL PETT (For Hal Boyle)
NEW YORK (P)—There seems to be a new national anthem titled: "Be kind to Your Scientist Week."

Sub-title: "Be kind to your basic research boy or he'll sneak out of the lab and go into the dry goods business."

Now, I realize this new evangelism was born out of pure reverence for knowledge and absolute truth and, of course, has no connection with national panic. Still, I must confess, there are times when a heathen superstition keeps me from being swept off my feet, stops me from kneeling in prayer over the new testament of the test tube.

Almost every time the new faith begins to seize me, something pens: A bunch of scientists get together and paint a futuristic picture of the paradise to come on earth. They did it again just the other day at a meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel observing the centennial of Joseph E. Seagram & Sons, Inc. Now, just how much connection there was between the prophecies and the products being celebrated, I can not say and I don't think it would be fair to draw any inferences.

Anyway, eight top-ranked scientists at the distiller's party came up with this picture of man 100 years from now:

He'll be able to control the size, shape and function of his own body; talk through his mind (mental telepathy) instead of his mouth; remove all mental illness and control his emotions and impulses with drops or pills; he'll be able to select the sex of his unborn baby and determine whether he'll have singletons, twins or triplets; if he doesn't want his own baby, he'll be able to shop for and then hatch the sperm and eggs of long-dead people of proven virtue and talent; he'll dine on vegetable dishes and synthetics (since the rest of the animal kingdom will have been consumed by them); he'll vacation at lavish hotels hung in outer space and receive his mail through satellite radio signals. Except for the fact that they are convinced man in the year 2057 will work only four or eight hours a week, I find the scientists' dream of the future a screaming nightmare.

Verbally or mentally, there will be endless arguments between man and wife 100 years hence.

Vacations: "Let's go to Mars again. I can get a discount."

"You and your cliché thinking! Mars is overloaded with humans. Let's go to Saturn. It's more chic. Nobody goes there."

Children: "I'm telling you for the last time, it'll be a boy!"

"That's what you think. Remember, you picked the last one. Anyway, it's already been arranged, we'll have a quiet girl this time. I promised the baby-sitter."

"I want a boy, a brown-haired boy."

"I want a girl, with chartreuse hair. Mother says it'll go with our new living room. It's the big thing this year."

I want not to be there, in the year 2057.

Time to Get Together Is Now

By George Sokolsky

Let us face it: NATO is in peril. The danger arises from three causes:

1. West Europe expects too much from the United States and the Americans are finding the burden of the demands oppressive;

2. Most Americans believe that the era of imperialism and colonialism has ended, when as a matter of fact we are entering upon a new type of imperialism which can encompass the entire human race. It is the anti-colonialism of Americans which is causing so much havoc in France and which is imperiling NATO;

3. The quarrels and jealousies among Western European nations, as contrasted with the monolithic Soviet system, imperils not only NATO but the United Nations. The quarrel between Greece and Turkey over Cyprus wrecked the Balkan Alliance; the American and British attacks upon France over Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco, and the American opposition to British, French and Israeli policy concerning Egypt have weakened the Anglo-American Alliance, the Anglo-American-French Alliance and NATO generally.

Way back in 1951, Bernard Baruch, speaking at the Lord Mayor's Dinner in London, tried to deal with precisely this situation in advance of its occurrence. It is, of course, difficult to be a prophet, particularly when the words of the prophet are unwelcome. On July 24, 1952, Baruch said to the British: "Supporting the Marshall Plan I strongly advocated that, if Europe united in a common defense against aggression, America should agree to go if necessary to war to help in that defense. Many have complained that heretofore we came only after war commenced. That criticism can no longer be leveled at us. We have already given of our resources. We have considerable forces here to join in the common European defense. These will increase. I do not and cannot speak for my government. But I would be less than frank if I did not tell you what I think and what the majority of Americans think too.

"Unless the peoples of Europe unite and quickly give their full all-out support to Gen. Eisenhower in his efforts to bring about a common defense, you cannot count on America's economic and military aid continuing. We will meet more than generously whatever Europeans do. If you show no hesitation and undertake your full share, we will go to the limit. Then the burdens will be less for all concerned."

Further, he then said: "I realize the difficulties the

Burglar Is Failure As Rolledup Rug

MIAMI, Fla. (P)—It's not easy to look like a rolledup rug, no matter how straight and still you stand. That's what Freddie Wiggins, 23, found out when police flushed him from a group of upended linoleum rolls in a warehouse they were searching for a prowler. Wiggins was booked for investigation of burglary.

"All right, all right," she interrupted finally. "I am touched by your story—but not moved."

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (P)—After each of President Eisenhower's three illnesses, the White House first gave wrong information or only part of the truth and let it stand for hours. Later it told the full story.

This happened after his heart seizure and ileitis attack and now again after his mild stroke. But this time, when the White House attempted to tell the real story at last, it made a mps of it.

Eisenhower had his heart attack in Denver early Sept. 24, 1955. At 2 a.m., the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, was called to Eisenhower's side.

At 8 a.m. Snyder announced the President had a "mild digestive upset." At noon that day Snyder said the President's condition was "good" and again said he had a "digestive upset."

At 2:35 p.m. Murray Snyder, then Eisenhower's assistant press secretary, told newsmen the President had suffered a heart attack. Press secretary James C. Hagerty on vacation, flew to Denver and took over. He did a masterful job thereafter.

Eisenhower had a history of ileitis: inflammation in the small intestine. He felt a stomach upset at 12:45 a.m. June 8, 1956. Over the phone Dr. Snyder prescribed a "slight dose of milk of magnesia."

Eisenhower didn't improve. At 2 a.m. Dr. Snyder went to the White House and stayed all night. At 8:50 a.m. Hagerty announced Eisenhower had an "upset stomach and headache this morning."

Again at 10:30 a.m. Hagerty described the President's condition as "not an illness but an upset" and said he had a "hunch" Eisenhower would go to his Gettysburg farm for the weekend.

At 12:25 p.m. Hagerty said Eisenhower was being taken to the hospital as a "preventive measure" and that the President's illness had been diagnosed as ileitis. Eisenhower was operated on the following morning.

When Eisenhower suffered a blockage of a small brain artery last Monday, Hagerty was in Paris. The assistant press secretary, Mrs. Anne Wheaton, announced at 6:30 p.m. that day that Eisenhower had had a "chill" and had been ordered to bed by his doctors. One of these doctors was Snyder.

Mrs. Wheaton said it was Dr. Snyder's decision to withhold any medical details until the following morning. She had a prepared statement when she talked. She refused to say who drew it up.

She met with reporters several times again that night and the following morning, Nov. 26, but provided no more detailed information. At 2:55 p.m. Tuesday she appeared before newsmen with a medical report.

This report revealed that Snyder and other doctors had examined Eisenhower the previous day and diagnosed his condition as a blood clot or occlusion (closing) of a blood vessel of the brain.

Nevertheless, the report given out Monday said Eisenhower had had a "chill" and made no mention of the doctors' findings.

Mrs. Wheaton was emphatic in saying it was not a stroke.

She made a mistake — which had to be corrected later — by saying she thought the President's illness was a form of heart attack.

Hagerty flew back from Paris. On Wednesday he was asked why the truth on the President's condition had been held up 24 hours. Hagerty replied that the doctors wanted to be sure of their diagnosis.

When he was asked if he would have handled White House announcements on Eisenhower's illness differently than Mrs. Wheaton, Hagerty said: "No, I don't think so."

Sicilian Volcano Rumbling Again

CATANIA, Sicily, (P) — Etna, Sicily's on-again, off-again volcano, is on again.

Vulcanologists at nearby Zafferana reported that Europe's most active volcano is erupting with an explosion about every 10 minutes. The vulcanologists emphasized that there is no immediate danger from this newest eruption. They said ashes from the explosion were falling back into the crater but that a tongue of lava had moved about 1,000 feet down the northeast slope.

Tunis Arms Tough on U.S.

The State Department, over the protests of France, decided to join Britain in sending 500 M-1 rifles and 50,000 rounds of small-arms ammunition to little Tunisia, the former French colony located on the North African coast. It faced this situation:

If the U. S. failed to ship arms to the Tunisians, then the government of that infant nation would accept arms offers from the communist bloc. This would be especially tragic because the Tunisian president, Habib Bourguiba, is not only one of the smartest men in the Arab world but in the past has been one of the friendliest to the West.

But if the U. S. did give arms to Tunisia, then the French would be bitterly unhappy. They fear the arms will go across the border to help the Algerian rebels fight the French. Washington's action therefore will probably torpedo chances that President Eisenhower may unify NATO nations by a trip to Paris next month.

The French, by the way, reneged last May on a promise of $35 million in arms to Tunisia. The Tunisians retaliated by canceling a customs agreement.

The French charged rebels were making hit-and-run raids from Tunisia into Algeria. The Tunisians replied that French troops still stationed in Tunisia under the independence agreement were being used illegally against the Algerians.

These are some of the problems facing America as it engages in the "gun-running business"—as arms sent to hold off communism often are used to back up threats in disputes between the various allies.

Year 2057--Count Me Absent

By Hal Boyle

By SAUL PETT
(For Hal Boyle)
NEW YORK (AP)—There seems to be a new national anthem titled: "Be kind to Your Scientist Week."

Sub-title: "Be kind to your basic research boy or he'll sneak out of the lab and go into the dry goods business."

Now, I realize this new evangelism was born out of pure reverence for knowledge and absolute truth and, of course, has no connection with national panic. Still, I must confess, there are times when a heathen superstition keeps me from being swept off my feet, stops me from kneeling in prayer over the new testament of the test tube.

Almost every time the new faith begins to seize me, something pens: A bunch of scientists get together and paint a futuristic picture of the paradise to come on earth. They did it again just the other day at a meeting at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel observing the centennial of Joseph E. Seagram & Sons, Inc. Now, just how much connection there was between the prophecies and the products being celebrated, I can not say and I don't think it would be fair to draw any inferences.

Anyway, eight top-ranked scientists at the distiller's party came up with this picture of man 100 years from now:

He'll be able to control the size, shape and function of his own body; talk through his mind (mental telepathy) instead of his mouth; remove all mental illness and control his emotions and impulses with drops or pills; he'll be able to select the sex of his unborn baby and determine whether he'll have singletons, twins or triplets; if he doesn't want his own baby, he'll be able to shop for and then hatch the sperm and eggs of long-dead people of proven virtue and talent; he'll dine on vegetable dishes and synthetics (since the rest of the animal kingdom will have been consumed by then); he'll vacation at lavish hotels hung in outer space and receive his mail through satellite radio signals. Except for the fact that they are convinced man in the year 2057 will work only four or eight hours a week, I find the scientists' dream of the future a screaming nightmare.

Verbally or mentally, there will be endless arguments between man and wife 100 years hence.

Vacations:

"Let's go to Mars again. I can get a discount."

"You and your cliché thinking! Mars is overloaded with humans. Let's go to Saturn. It's more chic. Nobody goes there."

Children:

"I'm telling you for the last time, it'll be a boy!"

"That's what you think. Remember, you picked the last one. Anyway, it's already been arranged, we'll have a quiet girl this time. I promised the baby-sitter."

"I want a boy, a brown-haired boy."

"I want a girl, with chateaux hair. Mother says it'll go with our new living room. It's the big thing this year."

I want not to be there, in the year 2057.

Time to Get Together Is Now

By George Sokolsky

Let us face it: NATO is in peril. The danger arises from three causes:

1. West Europe expects too much from the United States and the Americans are finding the burden of the demands oppressive;

2. Most Americans believe that the era of imperialism and colonialism has ended, when as a matter of fact we are entering upon a new type of imperialism which can encompass the entire human race. It is the anti-colonialism of Americans which is causing so much havoc in France and which is imperiling NATO;

3. The quarrels and jealousies among Western European nations, as contrasted with the monolithic Soviet system, imperils not only NATO but the United Nations. The quarrel between Greece and Turkey over Cyprus wrecked the Balkan Alliance; the American and British attacks upon France over Algeria, Tunisia and Morocco, and the American opposition to British, French and Israeli policy concerning Egypt have weakened the Anglo-American Alliance, the Anglo-American-French Alliance and NATO generally.

Way back in 1951, Bernard Baruch, speaking at the Lord Mayor's Dinner in London, tried to deal with precisely this situation in advance of its occurrence. It is, of course, difficult to be a prophet, particularly when the words of the prophet are unwelcome. On July 24, 1952, Baruch said to the British:

"Supporting the Marshall Plan I strongly advocated that, if Europe united in a common defense against aggression, America should agree to go if necessary to war to help in that defense. Many have complained that heretofore we came only after war commenced. That criticism can no longer be leveled at us. We have already given of our resources. We have considerable forces here to join in the common European defense. These will increase. I do not and cannot speak for my government. But I would be less than frank if I did not tell you what I think and what the majority of Americans think too.

"Unless the peoples of Europe unite and quickly give their full all-out support to Gen. Eisenhower in his efforts to bring about a common defense, you cannot count on America's economic and military aid continuing. We will meet more than generously whatever Europeans do. If you show no hesitation and undertake your full share, we will go to the limit. Then the burdens will be less for all concerned."

Further, he then said:

"I realize the difficulties the peoples of Europe have undergone, and the further sacrifices necessary to attain the end we all seek. We shall do more than match your efforts. But do not let Americans feel that you are not willing to shoulder your fair share of the burdens. Korea has shown that we are lacking neither in leadership nor sacrifice. But if we are to succeed you must do more there and your full share here. Let us not be discouraged or faint-hearted, however great the difficulties. There is no price tag on freedom. If we lose that, we lose all."

United Europe is not as close at hand today as it was in 1951. During the past six years, too many disagreements have occurred among the Western Europeans for a United States of Europe to be feasible and yet if Western Europe fails to recognize the necessity of finding a foundation for strength that will not be wholly dependent upon the United States, sooner or later Soviet Russia will test its strength against some of those countries.

After all, even Great Britain is only a bow-and-arrow's distance from a Russian bomb in this age of the Sputnik and that is undoubtedly the reason why British political leaders of both parties are so nervous over the uncertainties of American policy. When there is no telling what way the wind will shift in Washington, it is impossible for our allies to know what they can do without offending President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles. Aneurin Bevan, at any rate, spoke his mind freely in this country and while his views were wholly unofficial, they might soon enough be not only official but prevailing.

As it stands today, NATO is politically in bad shape. Whether the damage done during the past few years can be repaired, only time can tell and there is very little time left.

By BENNETT CERF

DOC BROWN'S battered jalopy—a Model T to be precise—was the subject for considerable merriment for the young fry in front of the village drug store. Doc Brown ignored the jibes as he climbed into the seat, then remarked amiably, "This car's paid for, boys. If you'll check with your parents, you'll discover that you ain't!"

The lady was shifting her headquarters from her summer home to her city apartment, but the moving van failed to appear. So she phoned the mover and listened to a long, involved explanation.

"All right, all right," she interrupted finally. "I am touched by your story—but not moved."

It is Warren Hull's notion that George Washington was not only the father of his country, but the absolute ideal of credit men. He left a farewell address!

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—After each of President Eisenhower's three illnesses, the White House first gave wrong information or only part of the truth and let it stand for hours. Later it told the full story.

This happened after his heart seizure and ileitis attack and now again after his mild stroke. But this time, when the White House attempted to tell the real story at last, it made a mess of it.

Eisenhower had his heart attack in Denver early Sept. 24, 1955. At 2 a.m., the White House physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, was called to Eisenhower's side.

At 8 a.m. Snyder announced the President had a "mild digestive upset." At noon that day Snyder said the President's condition was "good" and again said he had a "digestive upset."

At 2:35 p.m. Murray Snyder, then Eisenhower's assistant press secretary, told newsmen the President had suffered a heart attack. Press secretary James C. Hagerty on vacation, flew to Denver and took over. He did a masterful job thereafter.

Eisenhower had a history of ileitis: inflammation in the small intestine. He felt a stomach upset at 12:45 a.m. June 8, 1956. Over the phone Dr. Snyder prescribed a "slight dose of milk of magnesia."

Eisenhower didn't improve. At 2 a.m. Dr. Snyder went to the White House and stayed all night. At 8:50 a.m. Hagerty announced Eisenhower had an "upset stomach and headache this morning."

Again at 10:30 a.m. Hagerty described the President's condition as "not an illness but an upset" and said he had a "hunch" Eisenhower would go to his Gettysburg farm for the weekend.

At 12:25 p.m. Hagerty said Eisenhower was being taken to the hospital as a "preventive measure" and that the President's illness had been diagnosed as ileitis. Eisenhower was operated on the following morning.

When Eisenhower suffered a blockage of a small brain artery last Monday, Hagerty was in Paris. The assistant press secretary, Mrs. Anne Wheaton, announced at 6:30 p.m. that day that Eisenhower had had a "chill" and had been ordered to bed by his doctors. One of these doctors was Snyder.

Mrs. Wheaton said it was Dr. Snyder's decision to withhold any medical details until the following morning. She had a prepared statement when she talked. She refused to say who drew it up.

She met with reporters several times again that night and the following morning, Nov. 26, but provided no more detailed information. At 2:55 p.m. Tuesday she appeared before newsmen with a medical report.

This report revealed that Snyder and other doctors had examined Eisenhower the previous day and diagnosed his condition as a blood clot or occlusion (closing) of a blood vessel of the brain.

Nevertheless, the report given out Monday said Eisenhower had had a chill and made no mention of the doctors' findings.

Mrs. Wheaton was emphatic in saying it was not a stroke. She made a mistake—which had to be corrected later—by saying she thought the President's illness was a form of heart attack.

Hagerty flew back from Paris. On Wednesday he was asked why the truth on the President's condition had been held up 24 hours. Hagerty replied that the doctors wanted to be sure of their diagnosis.

When he was asked if he would have handled White House announcements on Eisenhower's illness differently than Mrs. Wheaton, Hagerty said: "No, I don't think so."

Sicilian Volcano Rumbling Again

CATANIA, Sicily, (AP)—Etna, Sicily's on-again, off-again volcano, is on again.

Vulcanologists at nearby Zafferana reported that Europe's most active volcano is erupting with an explosion about every 10 minutes.

The vulcanologists emphasized that there is no immediate danger from this newest eruption. They said ashes from the explosion were falling back into the crater but that a tongue of lava had moved about 1,000 feet down the northeast slope.

Road Aid to Ohio Told

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Bureau of Public Roads announced Thursday that 26.7 miles of federal interstate highway were constructed in Ohio as of Oct. 31. The bureau said construction cost $10,989,000. The government paid $6,816,000.

Paul's Triumphant Witness

IN PRISON PAUL LIVED, PRAYED AND WORKED TO EXTEND THE GOSPEL

Scripture—Philippians I.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
PHILIPPI was a city situated in the northern part of Greece, and the congregation there was the first in Europe, as narrated by Luke in Acts 16. Of all the churches established by Paul, this Philippian congregation seems to be nearest his heart.

Paul wrote from his prison in Rome, where later he was confined in a most humiliating manner for a man of his abilities and prominence. H. C. G. Moule is quoted in our notes as describing the condition in which Paul was confined. He describes it thus:

"We gather here, with reasonable certainty that life-guards were supplied, one by one . . . mounting guard over him in turn, and fastened to him by the long chain which clasped at one end the wrist of the prisoner, at the other that of the sentinel."

Thus Paul was chained day and night, but as we read his letter to the Philippians, we are thrilled by his courage, love and hopefulness in these distressing circumstances, for the cause of Christ and His gospel.

Paul begins his epistle by sending greetings to the Philippians from himself and Timothy. "Grace be unto you, and peace from God our Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ."

He remembers them always in his prayers, rejoicing in their fellowship and good work, and in full confidence that they will continue in them.

Then he writes that while he is in bondage the work of the Gospel goes on because "many of the brethren in the Lord, waxing confident by my bonds, are much more bold to speak the word without fear," although there are some, he writes, who because of envy and jealousy, try to preach to stir up strife.

He has hope that whether he lives or dies, Christ will be "magnified in all boldness. For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

Paul still has hope that he may visit this church, but "whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the Gospel."

He writes that they are not to be terrified of their enemies, "For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on Him, but also to suffer for His sake."

Dr. Wilbur M. Smith suggests that the younger children may be taught the five different aspects of prayer which are embodied in this chapter: prayers for things asked for; thanksgiving; adoration; confession and intercession,

MEMORY VERSE

"For me to live is Christ, and to die is gain."—Philippians 1:21.

this last meaning asking for things for others.

He suggests that the older classes be asked what are we who profess Christ doing to further His cause—in our churches, in our conduct, in our speech.

In closing I would like to quote from a beautiful and most helpful book of sermons by an eminent clergyman, Frederick M. Meek, titled The Life to Live. The sermons are based on the Beatitudes—The Sermon on the Mount—and in his chapter on meekness he describes the "meek" not as people who have no courage to stand for the right as they see it, but as "selfless, persistent people" who "believe that truth is more basic than deceit, that good will is more powerful than selfishness, that love is more fundamental than hate, that good can conquer evil." These people are those who will "inherit the earth," as Christ said.

Women Scientists Get Roles In Current Big IGY Program

Editor's Note: The author of the following article, Dr. Helen D. Prince, is a professor of astronomy at the McMath-Hulbert Observatory in Michigan.

By HELEN D. PRINCE
(For Jane Eads)

The vast international scientific undertaking known as the International Geophysical Year is won in progress.

Since this is a project conducted primarily by physical scientists and since most physical scientists are men, it would seem that the IGY is out of place in an article dealing with women and their interests.

Not so. Women scientists, through their studies of solar activity, are playing an important role in the program.

During the IGY, the physical nature of the earth as a whole—its weather, atmosphere, oceans, glaciers, and even its shape—are being studied. All of these measurements are being considered in relation to what is happening to the earth as it goes through space, circling around the sun.

What happens to the earth depends primarily on what happens on the sun.

In the United States, Dorothy

Trotter of the High Altitude Observatory at Boulder, Colo., makes weekly summaries of solar activity for IGY investigators.

Virginia Lincoln at the Bureau of Standards predicts how such solar activity may affect the earth in subsequent days or weeks. At the McMath-Hulbert Observatory, the solar research station of the University of Michigan, Ruth Hedeman and I are conducting investigations in solar-terrestrial relationships in the hope that the cosmic environment of the earth may be more clearly understood.

In other countries, too, women astronomers are concerned with transient solar events. In France, Mme. d'Azambuja organizes the world-wide flare observations. At the Crimean Solar Observatory in the U.S.S.R. it is a woman who keeps track of solar flares and prominences. Perhaps the activity of the sun is matched only by the activity of these women solar astronomers!

Family's Bad Luck Is Covered Up by Big-Hearted Friends

PHILADELPHIA — Three days ago the home of Dick and Helen Peterman and their 10 children burned down. Furniture, clothing, everything went up in flames. The Petermans were left with practically nothing.

A neighbor took the big family into her small home. Then the family's plight was brought to the attention of Mrs. Frederick Rieckder, a private secretary in a downtown building where Peterman works as a porter.

Mrs. Rieckder, widow of a banker, invited the Petermans to share her 14-room house for as long as they wish. A kindly poultry and produce man sent over a big turkey along with the full fixings. Peterman's boss gave him extra time off with pay. Further help is promised from other sympathizers.

Paul's Triumphant Witness

IN PRISON PAUL LIVED, PRAYED AND WORKED TO EXTEND THE GOSPEL

Scripture—Philippians I.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL
PHILIPPI was a city situated in the northern part of Greece, and the congregation there was the first in Europe, as narrated by Luke in Acts 16. Of all the churches established by Paul, this Philippian congregation seems to be nearest his heart.

Paul wrote from his prison in Rome, where later he was confined in a most humiliating manner for a man of his abilities and prominence. H. C. G. Moule is quoted in our notes as describing the condition in which Paul was confined. He describes it thus:

"We gather here, with reasonable certainty that life-guards were supplied, one by one . . . mounting guard over him in turn, and fastened to him by the long chain which clasped at one end the wrist of the prisoner, at the other that of the sentinel."

Thus Paul was chained day

He has hope that whether he lives or dies, Christ will be "magnified in all boldness. For to me to live is Christ, and to die is gain."

Paul still has hope that he may visit this church, but "whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the Gospel."

He writes that they are not to be terrified of their enemies, "For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on Him, but also to suffer for His sake."

Dr. Wilbur M. Smith suggests that the younger children may be taught the five different aspects of prayer which are embodied in this chapter: prayers for things asked for; thanksgiving; adoration; confession and intercession, and night, but as we read his letter to the Philippians, we are thrilled by his courage, love and hopefulness in these distressing circumstances, for the cause of Christ and His gospel.

Paul begins his epistle by sending greetings to the Philippians from himself and Timothy, "Grace be unto you, and peace from God our Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ."

He remembers them always in his prayers, rejoicing in their fellowship and good work, and in full confidence that they will continue in them.

Then he writes that while he is in bondage the work of the Gospel goes on because "many of the brethren in the Lord, waxing confident by my bonds, are much more bold to speak the word without fear," although there are some, he writes, who because of envy and jealousy, try to preach to stir up strife.

this last meaning asking for things for others.

He suggests that the older classes be asked what are we who profess Christ doing to further His cause—in our churches, in our conduct, in our speech.

In closing I would like to quote from a beautiful and most helpful book of sermons by an eminent clergyman, Frederick M. Meek, titled The Life to Live. The sermons are based on the Beatitudes—The Sermon on the Mount—and in his chapter on meekness he describes the "meek" not as people who have no courage to stand for the right as they see it, but as "selfless, persistent people" who "believe that truth is more basic than deceit, that good will is more powerful than selfishness, that love is more fundamental than hate, that good can conquer evil." These people are those who will "inherit the earth," as Christ said.

Women Scientists Get Roles In Current Big IGY Program

Editor's Note: The author of the following article, Dr. Helen D. Prince, is a professor of astronomy at the McMath-Hulbert Observatory in Michigan.

By HELEN D. PRINCE
(For Jane Eads)

The vast international scientific undertaking known as the International Geophysical Year is won in progress.

Since this is a project conducted primarily by physical scientists and since most physical scientists are men, it would seem that the IGY is out of place in an article dealing with women and their interests.

Not so. Women scientists, through their studies of solar activity, are playing an important role in the program.

During the IGY, the physical nature of the earth as a whole—its weather, atmosphere, oceans, glaciers, and even its shape—are being studied. All of these measurements are being considered in relation to what is happening to the earth as it goes through space, circling around the sun.

What happens to the earth depends primarily on what happens on the sun.

Family's Bad Luck Is Covered Up by Big-Hearted Friends

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Three days ago the home of Dick and Helen Peterman and their 10 children burned down. Furniture, clothing, everything went up in flames. The Petermans were left with practically nothing.

A neighbor took the big family into her small home. Then the family's plight was brought to the attention of Mrs. Frederick Rieckder, a private secretary in a downtown building where Peterman works as a porter.

Mrs. Rieckder, widow of a banker, invited the Petermans to share her 14-room house for as long as they wish. A kindly poultry and produce man sent over a big turkey along with the full fixings. Peterman's boss gave him extra time off with pay. Further help is promised from other sympathizers.

The Petermans said it turned

Three County Games on Tap

County basketball will feature three contests tonight, all non-league games.

Darby's Trojans travel to Amanda, Salt Creek goes to Frankfort and Walnut makes a short trip to Stoutsville.

Pickaway's Pirates play their third game of the season tomorrow night when they entertain Centralia.

Darby and Amanda both will be looking for their second win in as many starts. Darby downed Ashville last Friday and Amanda edged Pickerington Tuesday.

champs with a victory—but even the upset of the year probably won't save Coach J. B. Whitworth's job with 'Bama. Paul Bryant, Texas A&M coach, indicated after the Texas defeat that he may switch to his alma mater.

Ohio State and Michigan State, both 8-1 and ranked second and third in this week's poll, have completed their regular seasons and only a shabby game by Auburn appears likely to boost either one to the national title.

Arizona State (9-0), the only other major unbeaten, untied team left, plays Arizona (1-7-1).

Oklahoma (No. 5) is the only other member of the nation's top 10 teams still in business. The Sooners (8-1) play Oklahoma State (6-2-1).

The Vanderbilt-Tennessee and Georgia-Georgia Tech games also will attract bowl committee notice Saturday. Vandy (5-2-2), Tennessee (6-3-0) and Tech (4-3-2), are in the running for the Gator, Cotton and Sugar bowls too.

The only major bowls filled are the Rose (Ohio State vs. Oregon State) and Orange (Oklahoma vs. Duke).

Virginia Military turned down bowl bids from the Tangerine and Sun committees after defeating Virginia Tech 14-6 Thursday for the Southern Conference title.

Utah won the Skyline Conference title by defeating Utah State 21-6.

Mitchell Selected As Kansas Coach

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP)—Jack Mitchell was named head football coach at Kansas Thursday to no one's surprise.

Mitchell, who will be 33 Tuesday, is an Oklahoma product, although a native of Kansas. He played under coach Bud Wilkinson, quarterbacking the Sooners in 1946, 1947 and 1948.

The Arkansas Razorbacks won 23 games, lost 16 and tied one in Mitchell's three-year tenure. Before that he was head coach at Wichita, where he won 13, lost five and tied one in two years. Wichita won the Missouri Valley Conference title in 1954.

Irish Get 14-Point Edge over Trojans

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame takes on the unfamiliar role of heavy favorite Saturday in its traditional game with Southern California which closes out the Irish's home football season.

The Irish, who upset Oklahoma then lost last week to Iowa, have a 5-3 record. They end the season Dec. 7, at Southern Methodist.

The oddsmakers have made Notre Dame a 14-point favorite despite injuries that are bound to make the team vulnerable. Southern Cal has only one victory, 19-12 over Washington, in nine starts in staggering through its poorest football season.

Detroit Rallies, Wins 18-6 over Green Bay

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions had gone five quarters without a touchdown when head coach George Wilson told them that it was high time they woke up and started playing football.

Whether Wilson's halftime speech brought it about or not, the Lions "woke up" in the second half Thursday and dealt the Green Bay Packers an 18-6 defeat.

Army, Navy Grid Pilot Hatching Plots

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Army and Navy football teams arrived here today in the midst of a strategic battle of wits between the rival coaches.

"We expect to use a new formation," Army coach Earl Blaik told newsmen. "Something we haven't tried before."

"Army has drifted away from the straight-T more this season than at any time in the past. Actually we've moved more to flankers, to splitting our ends, and to unbalanced lines at either side. But we'll have a new wrinkle for this one."

Blaik, who normally doesn't go in for the cloak-and-dagger stuff, may have come up with something this week that the Middies might spring a double-wing attack in Saturday's traditional game.

Navy Coach Eddie Erdelatz admitted, "We can run our whole attack from the double wing. I wonder what made Blaik think of that."

Erdelatz was scheduled to lead his team into Municipal Stadium for a brief workout later today after the Cadets also had limbered up there.

A victory for the Midshipmen almost certainly will nail down a Cotton Bowl berth. They are favored over Army by three points.

Yingling Squad In Third Triumph

Yingling Hybrids, Williamsport and Stoutsville earned wins in Industrial League basketball at the Fairgrounds Coliseum last night.

The Hybrid five dumped Circleville Merchants, 72-34; Williamsport edged River Oil, 66-60, and Stoutsville stopped Lincoln Plastics, 49-23.

Yingling had little difficulty in picking up its third straight win. Leading 16-2 the first quarter and 32-6 at halftime the winners were never in trouble.

Yingling's Tom Bryant unloaded for 30 points to top all scorers for the evening. Hinton had 12 and Arledge 10 for the winners.

CIRCLEVILLE'S efforts were paced by Toole who hit for eight points, Greeno and Davis each had six.

Williamsport, trailing 33-32 at halftime, exploded for 24 points in the third quarter which proved sufficient to bounce River Oil.

The winners had four men in double scoring figures. Smith was high with 18, Rhoades and Timberlake each had 13 and James collected 11.

Hummell was high for the Oilers with 16. Teammate Glines posted 11.

Bowl Berths At Stake in Saturday Tilts

Auburn Seeking Only Clincher in Its Race For National Crown

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Navy, Mississippi and Rice can claim bowl berths with victories Saturday while Auburn, boasting a pure record but barred from post season play, shoots for college football's national championship.

Neither Navy, Mississippi nor Rice, have easy jobs ahead despite their national rankings. The Middles (7-1-1), favored by three points, have to defeat Army (7-1-0) to go to the Cotton Bowl. Navy is ranked No. 2 in this week's Associated Press poll. Army is 10.

Navy has lost only to North Carolina and was tied by Duke. The Cadets have been beaten only by Notre Dame (23-21).

Mississippi (8-1) ranked No. 7, can finish second in the Southeastern Conference by defeating Mississippi State (6-2) and get the Sugar Bowl berth Auburn will have to pass up because of NCAA probationary action. State, a three point underdog, also could get the Sugar Bowl bid with a victory, but even with a not-too-bad defeat could be a Bowl candidate.

Rice (6-3) needs nothing short of a victory over Baylor (3-5-1) for an undisputed Southwest Conference title and the host spot in the Cotton Bowl. A loss or tie would send Texas to the Dallas classic New Year's Day now that the Longhorns have disposed of fourth-rated Texas A&M (9-7) on Bobby Lackey's 38-yard field goal yesterday.

Should ninth-ranked Rice get only a deadlock against Baylor, Texas would tie for the title and advance to the Cotton Bowl by virtue of a 19-14 decision over the Owls. Both are virtually assured bowl berths, however, since the runner-up likely will wind either in the Sugar Bowl or Gator Bowl. Auburn (9-0), bidding to remain No. 1 in next week's final AP poll that decides the national title, goes against Alabama (2-6-1). The Tigers, naturally, will be SEC

Brown himself accounted for 237 yards, a new league record. (International)

Brown Praised for Showing Against Los Angeles Rams

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor
Any football observer will tell you that football is a team effort. Excepting maybe one who might have seen Jimmy Brown in action against the Los Angeles Rams.

The one-man gang of the Browns, just a rookie in the toughest of all football leagues, carried the ball 31 times, piled up 237 yards rushing, caught three passes and scored four touchdowns for one of the grand performances of all times in the paid sport.

Brown, who now has carried the ball 161 times and compiled 769 yards on the ground, undoubtedly is the playing key to the success of the Cleveland club this year and teams up with Paul Brown, the head coach, as the one-two punch.

The 221-pound All-American at Syracuse last year, a whiz on eastern gridirons and one of the Browns' top choices, showed his ball-carrying ability and drive for yardage early in the campaign when he made his debut. But he reached what may be his greatest performance against the Rams.

WHAT made Brown's one-man show so glittering, also, was the fact that the Rams played the defense close, concentrating on Brown's rushes, and yet he managed to squirm, sidestep and bully his way to big hunks of yardage and four touchdowns.

Durability is one of Jimmy's great assets. Despite the pounding one gets in pro ball, the rookie star played the whole game, and carried the ball just about the same number of times in each quarter.

The running of Jim-Dandy Brown recalls another great line-rusher who became famous with the Browns. That was Marion Motley, of course, and Motley was one of the great ones. Brown, incidentally, has cracked Motley's one-game rushing average in his first season.

While this column's intent is to toss the orchids Jimmy Brown's way, the one-man gang has the advantage of a real fine forward wall, which Paul Brown annually builds with a set of reliable coaches and some slick bird dogs in the field.

That's quite a combination they have in Cleveland pro football this year, Brown and Brown. Needless to say they are really doing it up Brown.

Ohio State Set To Unveil 1957-58 Cage Combine

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State University, basking in football glory, unveils its 1957-58 basketball team next Wednesday when the Buckeyes clash with powerful Kentucky.

The tough inaugural at the St. John Arena launches the Buckeyes on a rugged 22-game schedule that could be marked with pitfalls and roadblocks.

But Ohio State, with its brightest prospects in years, has visions of a Big Ten championship and a shot at a national title.

Coach Floyd Stahl's eagles, who finished in a deadlock for third place in the Western Conference last year, figure to improve their 9-5 record.

Even the diminutive Stahl readily admits the Buckeyes have the equipment to go all the way.

"We think our club should be as good as last year and maybe better. We'll be up there battling for that title."

Stahl, now in his eighth season at the Buckeye helm, is optimistic about the makeup of his squad. He has four returning regulars and a host of talented newcomers.

"We've got better reserve strength than we've had in years," the Ohio coach says.

Leading the returnees is Frank "Chico" Howard, a burly 6-6 forward from Columbus South. Howard, eighth best rebounder in the nation last year, also scored 442 points in 22 contests for a 20-points-per-game average.

Other returning standouts are forward Ken Sidle, a 6-5 product of Ashland, center Larry Huston, 6-6, from Greenview, and Jim Laughlin, a 6-4 guard from Charleston, W. Va. All are seniors except Huston, who has another year of eligibility.

Key to Ohio's hopes will be finding a replacement for the departed Gene Millard, a clever ball-handler and playmaker who made the Bucks' fast break click last year.

Joe Carlson, a 5-11 junior from Valley City, N. D., is the likely successor. Carlson, a transfer from the University of North Dakota, has impressed in pre-season workouts.

But senior Vern Barkstall, a peppery 5-9 letterman, is challenging Carlson for the starting berth. And a couple of good-looking sophoms, Joe Roberts of Columbus

East and Dick Furry of Columbus West, could break into the starting lineup.

Stahl is high on the latter pair, but is expected to bring them along slowly. Roberts, 6-6, and Furry, 6-5, along with Barkstall, Dick Hagedorn, a 6-2 junior from Grove City and Norm Martin, a 6-3 senior from Sycamore Valley, probably will make up Ohio's second unit.

Others on the roster are James Ferrell, 6-1 junior from Columbus South; James Niehaus, 6-0 junior from Hamilton; Dave Barker, 6-3 soph from Columbus St. Marys; Howard Nourse, 6-7 soph from Springfield; Don Cramer, 5-11 soph from Lewistown, Pa., and Ron Nischwitz, 6-2 junior from Dayton.

The Buckeyes appear to have the right combination of height, speed and depth to cop the conference crown. But Stahl says the league is better balanced than last year.

"Indiana and Michigan State will be tough to beat again and Iowa and Northwestern should be much improved," Stahl says.

"But if we can find someone to give us the leadership Millard did, we could go all the way," he added.

If the Buckeyes do, it will be their first title since 1950 when Dick Schnittker paced Ohio to the championship.

Stahl, now in his eighth season at the Buckeye helm, is optimistic about the makeup of his squad. He has four returning regulars and a host of talented newcomers.

"We've got better reserve strength than we've had in years," the Ohio coach says.

Vaughn Is Favored To Defeat 'Tiger'

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Vaughn is a 7-5 favorite to beat Ralph (Tiger) Jones tonight in a battle of middleweights at Madison Square Garden.

Willie Vaughn, of Los Angeles, has been made the choice on the strength of his fine showing against class Spider Webb at the Garden Nov. 1. The 24-year-old Californian dropped the verdict to the Spider but his burst down the stretch made it close.

Jones, 29-year-old veteran from Yonkers, N. Y., will be risking a good payday and a chance to climb into the top 10 rankings again. He has a date with contender Joey Giardello lined up for Miami Beach Dec. 27 but he has to beat Vaughn to seal it.

East and Dick Furry of Columbus West, could break into the starting lineup.

Stahl is high on the latter pair, but is expected to bring them along slowly. Roberts, 6-6, and Furry, 6-5, along with Barkstall, Dick Hagedorn, a 6-2 junior from Grove City and Norm Martin, a 6-3 senior from Sycamore Valley, probably will make up Ohio's second unit.

Others on the roster are James Ferrell, 6-1 junior from Columbus South; James Niehaus, 6-0 junior from Hamilton; Dave Barker, 6-3 soph from Columbus St. Marys; Howard Nourse, 6-7 soph from Springfield; Don Cramer, 5-11 soph from Lewistown, Pa., and Ron Nischwitz, 6-2 junior from Dayton.

The Buckeyes appear to have the right combination of height, speed and depth to cop the conference crown. But Stahl says the league is better balanced than last year.

"But if we can find someone to give us the leadership Millard did, we could go all the way," he added.

If the Buckeyes do, it will be their first title since 1950 when Dick Schnittker paced Ohio to the championship.

Grid Oddities Dime a Dozen For High Schools This Year.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Oddities were a dime a dozen on Ohio's scholastic gridirons this fall.

But the No. 1 bizarre incident, a poll of the state's sports writers and coaches shows, was the "backing-up clock" in the Warren-Massillon game.

Everyone agreed the faulty timepiece added a minute to the final quarter of the highly-important contest, and that Massillon used the last four seconds of the "overtime" to score the 34-yard aerial touchdown which beat the Panthers and probably cost them the state championship.

Warren was leading The Associated Press poll at the time, but the unusual loss dropped the Panthers from the peak. It was Warren's lone loss.

Another top-rated oddity was a series of incidents surrounding hard-luck Art Robertson, Toronto back. Art, expected to shoulder the major part of the team's offensive burden, was kept out of action at the season's start by a serious lime burn. He finally healed, only to be downed by Asian flu. He rounded into shape for the seventh game with Folsom, W. Va., but in his first start of the campaign suffered a broken leg on the third play.

The influenza epidemic, which forced postponement or cancellation of scores of contests, also is high on the "unusual" list. Van Wert saw four of its games postponed, forcing some tight scheduling late in the campaign, but Gil Smith's Cougars had another unbeaten-untied season.

Over three straight weekends, three Stark County games were won in the last few seconds. Canton McKinley nudged Steubenville's Big Red in the last four seconds. The next week Massillon did it to Warren in the same period, and then Canton Central Catholic upset Akron Hower in the final two seconds.

Also attracting attention in the oddity race were such things as: Quarterback Bob Lister of Marion Harding completing 18 of 21 passes in a single game.

John Level's 70-yard-in-the-air pass to Charley Houdeshell (from his own 10 to the foe's 20) to give Fremont Ross a tie with Toledo Scott.

East Cleveland Shaw's barefooted extra-point kicker, Mario Gierhardt, who converted 33 of 38 attempts.

Joe Maroon, Bellaire St. John scoring four touchdowns in each of three straight contests.

All five kickoffs in the Portsmouth-Ironton game being short on-side boops.

Massillon cancelled its game with Mansfield during the flu epidemic, the Tigers announcing several of their players were too ill to go through with the contest. So Mansfield's contribution to the "biggest oddity" query was:

Coach Floyd Stahl's cagers, who finished in a deadlock for third place in the Western Conference last year, figure to improve their 9-5 record.

Even the diminutive Stahl readily admits the Buckeyes have the equipment to go all the way.

"We think our club should be as good as last year and maybe better. We'll be up there battling for that title."

Stahl, now in his eighth season at the Buckeye helm, is optimistic about the makeup of his squad. He has four returning regulars and a host of talented newcomers.

"We've got better reserve strength than we've had in years," the Ohio coach says.

Leading the returnees is Frank "Chico" Howard, a burly 6-6 forward from Columbus South. Howard, eighth best rebounder in the nation last year, also scored 442 points in 22 contests for a 20-points-per-game average.

Other returning standouts are forward Ken Sidle, a 6-5 product of Ashland, center Larry Huston, 6-6, from Greenwich, and Jim Laughlin, a 6-4 guard from Charleston, W. Va. All are seniors except Huston, who has another year of eligibility.

Key to Ohio's hopes will be finding a replacement for the departed Gene Millard, a clever ball-handler and playmaker who made the Bucks' fast break click last year.

Joe Carlson, a 5-11 junior from Valley City, N. D., is the likely successor. Carlson, a transfer from the University of North Dakota, has impressed in pre-season workouts.

But senior Vern Barkstall, a peppery 5-9 letterman, is challenging Carlson for the starting berth. And a couple of good-looking sophoms, Joe Roberts of Columbus

Vaughn Is Favored To Defeat 'Tiger'

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Vaughn is a 7-5 favorite to beat Ralph (Tiger) Jones tonight in a battle of middleweights at Madison Square Garden.

Willing Willie, of Los Angeles, has been made the choice on the strength of his fine showing against classy Spider Webb at the Garden Nov. 1. The 24-year-old Californian dropped the verdict to the Spider but his burst down the stretch made it close.

Jones, 29-year-old veteran from Yonkers, N. Y., will be risking a good payday and a chance to climb into the top 10 rankings again. He has a date with contender Joey Giardello lined up for Miami Beach Dec. 27 but he has to beat Vaughn to seal it.

East and Dick Furry of Columbus West, could break into the starting lineup.

Stahl is high on the latter pair, but is expected to bring them along slowly. Roberts, 6-6, and Furry, 6-5, along with Barkstall, Dick Hagedorn, a 6-2 junior from Grove City and Norm Martin, a 6-3 senior from Sycamore Valley, probably will make up Ohio's second unit.

Others on the roster are James Ferrell, 6-1 junior from Columbus South; James Niehaus, 6-0 junior from Hamilton; Dave Barker, 6-3 soph from Columbus St. Marys; Howard Nourse, 6-7 soph from Springfield; Don Cramer, 5-11 soph from Lewistown, Pa., and Ron Nischwitz, 6-2 junior from Dayton.

The Buckeyes appear to have the right combination of height, speed and depth to cop the conference crown. But Stahl says the league is better balanced than last year.

"Indiana and Michigan State will be tough to beat again and Iowa and Northwestern should be much improved," Stahl says.

"But if we can find someone to give us the leadership Millard did, we could go all the way," he added.

If the Buckeyes do, it will be their first title since 1950 when Dick Schnitker paced Ohio to the championship.

Grid Oddities Dime a Dozen For High Schools This Year

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Oddities were a dime a dozen on Ohio's scholastic gridirons this fall.

But the No. 1 bizarre incident, a poll of the state's sports writers and coaches shows, was the "backing-up clock" in the Warren-Massillon game.

Everyone agreed the faulty timepiece added a minute to the final quarter of the highly-important contest, and that Massillon used the last four seconds of the "overtime" to score the 34-yard aerial touchdown which beat the Panthers and probably cost them the state championship.

Warren was leading The Associated Press poll at the time, but the unusual loss dropped the Panthers from the peak. It was Warren's lone loss.

Another top-rated oddity was a series of incidents surrounding hard-luck Art Robertson, Toronto back, Art, expected to shoulder the major part of the team's offensive burden, was kept out of action at the season's start by serious lime burns. He finally healed, only to be downed by Asian flu. He rounded into shape for the seventh game with Folansbee, W. Va., but in his first start of the campaign played a broken leg on the third play.

The influenza epidemic, which forced postponement or cancellation of scores of contests, also is high on the "unusual" list. Van Wert saw four of its games postponed, forcing some tight scheduling late in the campaign, but Gil Smith's Cougars had another unbeaten-untied season.

Over three straight weekends, three Stark County games were won in the last few seconds. Canton McKinley nudged Steubenville's Big Red in the last four seconds. The next week Massillon did it to Warren in the same period, and then Canton Central Catholic upset Akron Hower in the final two seconds.

Also attracting attention in the oddity race were such things as: Quarterback Bob Lister of Marion Harding completing 18 of 21 passes in a single game.

John Level's 70-yard-in-the-air pass to Charley Houshelt (from his own 10 to the foe's 20) to give Fremont Ross a tie with Toledo Scott.

East Cleveland Shaw's bare-footed extra-point kicker, Mario Gierhardt, who converted 33 of 38 attempts.

Joe Maroon, Bellaire St. John scoring four touchdowns in each of three straight contests.

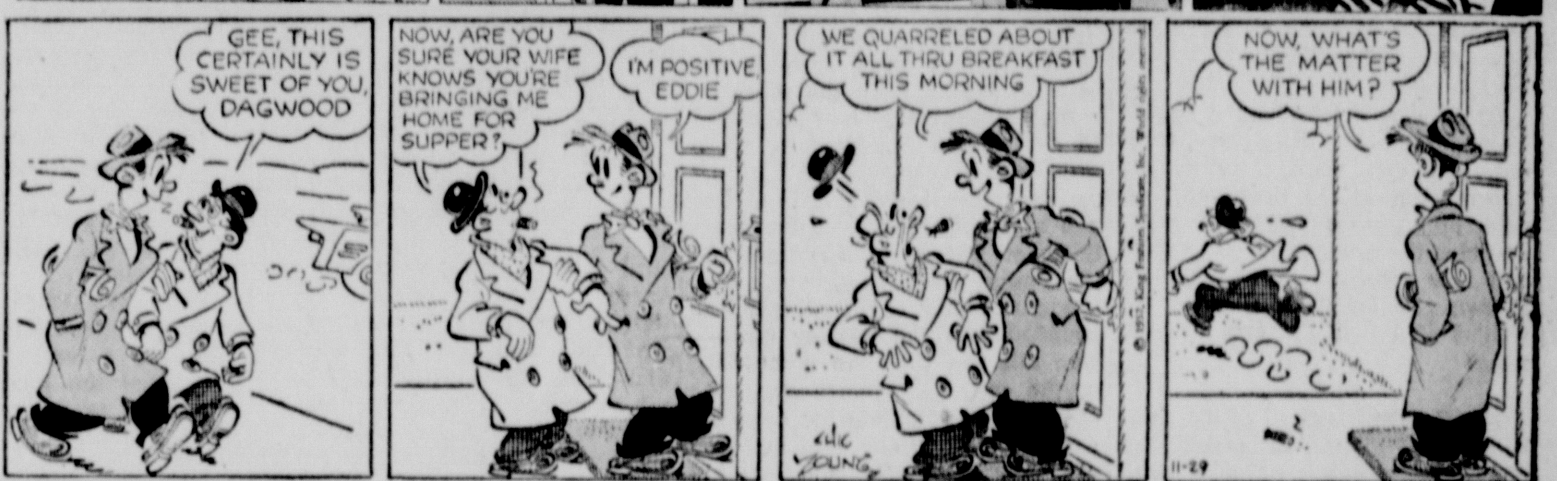

All five kickoffs in the Portsmouth-Ironton game being short on-side boops.

Massillon cancelled its game with Mansfield during the flu epidemic, the Tigers announcing several of their players were too ill to go through with the contest. So Mansfield's contribution to the "biggest oddity" query was:

Roundtown Retrospect

By Mac Noggle

Do you remember when the old-time drug stores always had in their windows one or more big bottles of colored water, either blue or red and quite often both kinds?

We don't imagine the folks of those days cared a hoot about the origin of these marks of the trade, but the inquisitive ones could have found out that their history went back even before Nero's time and that the blue globe represented "venous blood," and the red one was "arterial blood."

Anyway, even though they were intended more as an ornament than anything else, they often did provoke a good-natured kidding match, and even a serious argument among some of our oldtimers, when the blue was referred to as the kind of stuff coursing the arteries of some of Pickaway County's self-opinionated blue-bloods.

There were a lot of other jiggers about an old-time drug store, we'll bet you can recall. Remember those beam scales they had, all done up in glass and mahogany, and how the druggist loved to show you how sensitive they were by throwing it off balance with the weight of a hair in one of the pans?

THEN, BESIDES all of the show bottles and globes, displayed here and there, usually filled with bright-colored water, you probably can recall the row upon row of bottles and jars on the shelves, all with fancy labels in gold and bright colors. Some were round, others were square, many had ground-glass tops, while others had fancy japanned metal tops. Some had labels of china or glass, stuck on with some sort of a wax. Many had no labels at all—they didn't need any for the licorice root, the horehound sticks, the pink and the white rock-candy, and the peppermint and wintergreen lozenges.

Nearly all of the labels were in Latin, but this never seemed to stump the druggist—we've never seen one of these oldtimers hesitate one moment in going to the right shelf and pulling down the right jar to weigh us out a dime's worth of epsom salts our mother

DAV Chapter Gets Salute

Circleville Chapter No. 70, Disabled American Veterans has received a special salute from National Headquarters of the DAV for surpassing its last year's membership. As of November 1, the chapter had a total of 62 members. The DAV has grown steadily since its founding in 1921 and membership today numbers nearly 200,000. There are more than four million veterans in the United States who have suffered some kind of disability in wartime.

Generally speaking, American veterans who have been wounded, gassed or disabled while serving in the armed forces of the U. S. in American wars, are eligible for DAV membership. This eligibility includes, in addition to World War I veterans, those who have served in the armed forces at any time between December 7, 1941, and the conclusion of the Korean campaign.

had sent us uptown to get. What the Latin name on this particular jar was, we don't remember—do you?

Do you remember how you liked to watch the druggist man use the mortars and pestles? Some of these were made of brass, while others were of stone. There were little bits of ones, which just fit into the palm of the hand and were used to pound up lumps of powder (they had a fancy name for this operation—"trituration"), we believe it was called.)

With the bigger ones, they ground up many kinds of barks, leaves and roots, to supply certain ingredients called for in doctors' prescriptions. They had another gimmick, called a "hand oil extractor," made from a pewter plate, through which little short nails were driven, making a scarifying surface over which lemons were scraped to extract the oil from the skins.

Do you remember how they used to put certain remedies in those little gelatin capsules? All of the powder ingredients, a little of this and a little of that, were thoroughly mixed with a small spatula and piled up or a square of paper, then the smaller half of the capsule was pounded into the powder until it was full and then the other half, or the cap, was slipped over the open end to complete the capsule?

We never saw one used but they did have what was called "pill rollers," which could be adjusted to make different sized, round pills. They even had something with which they coated these pills and made them appear to be silver-plated. The nasty tasting pellets were rolled in sugar, flavored with peppermint, wintergreen or sassafras.

THERE WERE A few other things which were common in those old-time drug stores. There was the soap-cutting machine, by which the long bars of castile soap were cut into nickel and 10-cent bars; the twine holder or the large twine reel which held the colored wrapping cord with which your purchase was neatly tied; the little glass case on the counter in which were displayed cutlery, fever thermometers, hypodermic needles, nipples, storm-plugs and the like.

Then there were the wire sponge baskets with their several compartments, each with a handy little door, and each compartment containing different size sponges. But what always stumped us was how the bottle we took to the drug store for a refill, always required a sized cork that could not be found in the drawer after drawer of the many types and sizes of corks the druggist had. Remember then how he made one to fit your bottle, with his little cork press?

We're wondering how many drug stores of today even have such a thing as a "cork," let alone a machine to make little ones out of big ones.

Annual Elks Memorial Service Scheduled for 2 p.m. Sunday

The annual memorial service sponsored by the Circleville Elks Lodge will be at 2 p. m. Sunday. The special tribute to deceased members of the Elks will be held in the lodge room and will be open to the general public. G. Richard Bowers, exalted ruler of the local lodge, said that there are now 279 names on the lodge's roster of "departed members." Of the total, those who have died since the 1956 memorial service will receive special tribute in the Sunday ceremonies.

Bowers said that the memorial address will be given by the Rev. Fred Ketner, now of Columbus, a former Pickaway County minister and one-time "most outstanding young man" of Circleville. Special organ music will be provided by Mrs. Theodore Huston and two numbers will be offered by the Circleville High School Girls' Sextet.

Bowers will be assisted by his corps of officers in giving the memorial service ritual.

Ohio's Polio Season Said About Over

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The polio season in Ohio is practically over, Dr. Ralph E. Dwork, state health director, said today as he disclosed only one new polio case was reported last week.

No cases were reported the week before that.

So far this year, 259 polio cases have shown up in state records, compared with 561 for the corresponding period of 1956. During all of last year, 578 polio cases were recorded.

Dr. Dwork said the drop in the number of cases this year bore out earlier predictions of the effectiveness of the Salk anti-polio vaccine. But he warned:

"Polio returns like clockwork and it is important that persons up to the age of 40 get all three polio shots. It is particularly important that youngsters up to the age of 16 who have not had a third shot get it between now and April."

Dr. Dwork said he has no recent figures on how many persons who should have polio shots have not received them. He estimated, however, that only two-thirds of the "eligible population" is covered.

The polio season begins in June and July and reaches its peak early in August.

California Timber Fire Under Control

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The big brush and timber fire in the San Gabriel Mountains, which burned to within four miles of foothill communities 20 miles from Los Angeles, has been brought under control.

The announcement was made Thursday as turkey dinners were being served to some 1,000 men still on the lines. Some of the meals were flown by helicopter to crews on remote ridges.

The blaze, which flared up during a windstorm Nov. 21, blackened 25,000 acres of valuable watershed.

She can only say a few words in English, but her hostess here at a big Thanksgiving dinner, Mrs. E. C. George, said she had a wonderful holiday.

"She just seemed to fit right into the picture," Mrs. George said. "She has a terrific appetite. She just loved the turkey and vegetables, and wouldn't eat the pie or other sweets."
